An Ocean Home For The Holidays

A selection of exclusive residences for celebrating the holiday season.

MELISSA GILLESPIE NOVEMBER 28, 2018

The holiday season is here. Time to gather friends and family together to celebrate, relax, and reminisce. If you're in search of the perfect place to call your (second) home for the holidays, the following luxury residences offer the best of both worlds: private-home accommodations with access to five-star resort amenities.

FOR ISLAND HOPPING FAMILIES

Kukui'ula Kauai, Hawaii

Located on the sunny south shore, Kahalawai #38, a contemporary home designed by Dean Sakamoto and Kelly and Stone Architects and inspired by the designs of mid-century Hawaiian modernist Vladimir Ossipoff, embraces the island landscape with spaces for seamless indoor-outdoor living. Named Hale Ike Mala, "Love of the Garden," its setback and broad frontage on The Orchard affords privacy and dramatic ocean views.

Why it's a fit for the holidays: With warmer temperatures year-round, Kauai continues to be a popular family destination for the holidays. This home's open floorplan allows families to enjoy their time together both indoor and outdoor. The ample outdoor space overlooking the lush landscape of the island makes for the perfect backdrop during a holiday meal with friends and family. Even better, if you forgot to send Grandma the perfect gift just say "Hey Alexa" to order directly from Amazon that novel she has been wanting – make a list and check it twice! kukuiula.com

Hualālai Kailua Kona, Hawaii (Big Island)

Situated behind a private, gated entrance, this $14.95 million residence (72-415 Ka'upulehu Drive) has 5 bedrooms, 5 full baths and 2 half baths. It also has a private office with amazing views and a media/family room. This home is located in one of Hualālai's premier residential communities with drop-away golf course vistas and expansive coastal ocean views, walking distance to the Hualālai members' Ke'olu Clubhouse. Designed by award-winning interior designer Gina Willman, the home's décor honors the island's natural elements, with touches such as Hawaiian quilted lava stone accent walls in the living and dining room and koa wood furnishings throughout.

Why it's a fit for the holidays: The prime weather of Hawaii during the winter months paired with the home's outstanding features for entertaining makes for a perfect home to host friends and family around the holidays. The expansive kitchen provides ample cooking space, while the outdoor kitchen area – complete with a BBQ, pizza oven, EVO grill, two refrigerators, ice maker and a commercial bar system – is the perfect place to gather and truly

enjoy the warm weather. hualalairesort.com
